

Post-doctoral Fellowship Announcement 2022-2023

Arbor Psychology Group is pleased to announce 2 post-doctoral fellowships for the next academic year, beginning September 2022. We are seeking applicants for both a Child/Adolescent Fellowship for those with a PhD or PsyD from a clinical, counseling, or school psychology program and an Adult Fellowship for those with a PhD or PsyD from a clinical or counseling psychology program.

Fellows in both programs will have opportunities to advance their skills in a wide range of areas. Fellows have flexibility and can give input on how to balance their caseload, what types of concerns and ages/populations they want to work with. All fellows may give input on their preference of supervisor prior to the start of the fellowship beginning.

Child/Adolescent fellows

Will provide developmental assessments and therapy for children, teens, parents and families. Fellows may have opportunities to lead/co-lead group therapy sessions. In addition to solidifying knowledge and experience in general child/adolescent clinical practice, fellows may choose to gain more advanced specialization in areas such as trauma, early childhood, emotion regulation/DBT, developmental assessment, or evidence based parenting programs.

Adult fellows

Will provide individual therapy for adults with a wide-range of concerns. In addition to solidifying knowledge and experience in general clinical practice, fellows may choose to gain specialization in couples therapy, trauma, perinatal/postpartum concerns, or OCD. Fellows may have opportunities to lead/co-lead group therapy sessions.

About Arbor Psychology Group

Arbor Psychology Group is well-respected throughout the community for providing high quality mental health services across the lifespan- from pregnancy/infant mental health through adulthood. Our therapists frequently share cases- working with multiple family members- with the opportunity for rich connections and collaborations. Our group offers ongoing professional development with frequent guest speakers and case consultation meetings emphasizing lifelong learning.

Following the completion of the program, there are opportunities to stay on and join our team. Arbor Psychology Group therapists respect one another, truly enjoy working together, and look forward to welcoming post-doctoral fellows in the coming year.

Benefits

Compensation is competitive. Fellows are W-2 employees. Salary is approximately $60,000-$75,000 depending on hours billed. (Typically, Child Fellows will be expected to see 16-20 clients/week and Adult Fellows will be expected to see 20-25 clients/week). 15 days PTO. Flexible schedule, with time to study for the EPPP and maintain a healthy work-life balance. A minimum of 2 hours/week of supervision is provided, with additional group consultation time.

To apply

Applicants from members of under-represented groups including minorities are especially encouraged to apply. Interested applicants should send a cover letter, resume, and 2 letters of recommendation to Dr. Beth Pearson at DrBethPearson@gmail.com.
